ABSTRACT

MUHAMMAD ARAFAT ABDULLAH, Study impact of the regional poliferation on regional development (a case study in Mamasa Regency West Sulawesi Provinces). Supervised by BAMBANG JUANDA and DEDDY S. BRATAKUSUMAH.

This Research is aimed to identify the feasibility of regional poliferation, investigate the impact of regional poliferation on the economic development, study how the impact of regional poliferation on the fiscal capacity and fiscal potency, how the impact of regional poliferation on the public service and official government in the Mamasa regency. The result research showed that the improvements of economic development, fiscal capacity, official government and public service in Mamasa Regency are not better than those in Polewali Mandar Regency.

Keywords: Regional poliferation, economic development, fiscal capacity, official government and public service